Observations... By the Editor

Gaspar Maurigi, Sr., will again have his St. Joseph Table on March 19th, in honor of this great Saint... for many years this was an annual custom of the Maurigis... upon the death of Mrs. Maurigi the practice was discontinued and this year Mr. Maurigi decided to renew the offering... the public is invited to participate... and visit their home for 4 p. m. March 18 to 11:30 a. m. March 19, and from 2:30 p. m. on March 19... the League of Women Voters will meet tonight at the courthouse at 8 p. m. at this meeting the formal organization will be held and officers will be elected... the Louisville and Nashville Railroad celebrated its 100th, anniversary on March 5th... the Old Reliable has been on the job quite a while and has done much good throughout this section... and could probably be a little more active in the development of the Gulf Coast... just another little note to our Mayor and Commissioners... we know the weather of the last few days was tough on the streets... but the way to take care of this situation is to take care of the drainage... look forward a bit in good weather and do the necessary so we won't have too many mud holes in the future... while on the subject of roads... Supervisor Ed. Ortle... your roads are tough... cleaning the ditches was a splendid thing, but the pile of dirt on the side of the roads is bad... it holds the water in the roadway... we understand why this is done, and it is the thing to do, but why not have your crew cut sections of this dirt pile out of the way to allow the water to drain... Right Reverend Monsignor Andrew J. Gmelch is back home after several weeks spent at Hotel Dieu, in New Orleans... all reports are that he is doing much better, and on last Sunday he celebrated one of the masses... the annual pilgrimage of the Mississippi Coast Council of Garden Clubs will be held from March 15 to 19... the group will visit Bay St. Louis on the opening day, March 15... how about everybody tidying up for the occasion, and then let us keep in that shape... the opening game of the Juvenile Baseball League will be Sunday afternoon at Morreale's Park... Forster Commagere is devoting much time to the boys, and these youngsters should be encouraged to participate in America's number one sport... remember when they are playing baseball they are not into some devilment and their minds, particularly, are being occupied... your attendance will prove helpful and encouraging... the members of the Knights of Columbus will receive Communion in a body at the Lakeshore Church Sunday morning, March 12... Mass will be at 8 o'clock... this practice by the members of the local council, of attending Mass, and receiving Communion at stated periods in the various churches of the county has been in effect for some time and is a wholesome one.

S. J. A. STUDENTS GIVE PIANO RECITAL MARCH 11

The students participating in this recital are receiving their training in music from a Progressive Series Teacher... Not only are they being taught to play the piano, but they are receiving an education in music, which help them play with an understanding, Sister Antoinette stated. They are schooled in the fundamental principles of musicianship.

CRAIG LAST WITNESS

For the past two weeks hearings have been held by the committee on this bill. A number of witnesses appeared before the committee from Hancock County, for and against the action. State Auditor Carl Craig, who filed suit to recover the sum expended, plus interest, was the last witness to appear before the committee. He has charged that the money was allegedly misspent, having been paid to Chester C. Lee for truck, dragline hire and for purchase of gravel and that no evidence could be found that the work had actually been done on the roads designated on the minutes of the Board. He has also charged that the Board had failed to advertise for, or receive, competitive bids for the work as required by the law under which the funds were appropriated by the State.

LEE INTRODUCES BILL

The bill was introduced by Representative Francis Lee, and was passed by the house some weeks ago. The passage of the bill would have abated the suit filed by the State Auditor, against the members of the former board, Charles B. Murphy, John B. Wheat, Johnson S. Shaw, Lander H. Neelace and Ed. P. Ortle.

At the call of the docket of the February Term of the Chancery Court, a continuance was granted due to the illness of one of the defendants, and the cause was set for hearing on March 15th.

COURT RULES

The chairman of the Local and Private Committee of the Senate, stated that the group decided to let the court pass on whether or not the funds were properly expended.

Senator David Fullilove of Valden, filed a minority report on the bill. The measures will go to the foot of the senate calendar and can only be advanced on a two third vote of that group.

THE FUTURE IS IN THEIR HANDS

We have really had a treat during this week. We have been attending the meetings of the 4-H Club Boys and Girls in Hancock County. We have had an opportunity to sit and observe the young people at their meeting. To watch their demeanor, to see the sparkle in their eyes, to see the eagerness with which they have grasped every word of encouragement spoken to them; to see the satisfaction expressed on their countenances when they felt they had accomplished something worthwhile. It certainly would have made your blood tingle to be among this spirited young manhood and womanhood of your County for a while and hear their leaders tell of the wonderful work they are doing.

These boys and girls are the future men and women of our County. To them will be entrusted that leadership that is today in the hands of those who are gradually ebbing towards the shady side of life. To them we pass the job of carrying on where we have left off. These are our boys and girls. They should be given every opportunity to learn to do the things that will afford them a better position in life. They should be tutored to assume that leadership that will fall upon them in a short while. They should be encouraged to learn how to earn their own living without being dependent upon another, or upon any governmental agency.

The work of the 4-H Clubs, gives to our boys and girls that particular training that will mean so much to them when they reach manhood and womanhood. They learn to do by doing. That is their slogan. We all know that that is the way to know how to do things. That is to gain the practical knowledge. They encourage the youth of our County to better their positions; to raise better livestock; to grow better gardens; to keep and have better homes. What greater teaching could our youths have than the pledge of the 4-H boys and girls "My head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, and my health to better living, for my club, my community and my country."

We should thank God that we live in a country where our youth can receive the training and teachings such as they receive in 4-H work, in contrast to the many other youth organizations, throughout this war torn world, whose ideals were far less desirable, and which organizations had so much influence on other nations of the world.

Let us pledge ourselves that in the course of our endeavors to assist in the development of Hancock County that we shall not overlook this splendid organization of boys and girls, which now numbers nearly 400. That we will lend them every assistance possible. That we will afford them an opportunity to earn the small amount of money that it is necessary for them to have in the furtherance of their projects. That we will take more interest in their work. That we will try to visit with them at their meetings. If we do this we will be building in the future. We will be making an investment in the youth of our County, that will cost us only a little time. It will be the lowest priced but wisest investment you have ever made.

Editor's note: This editorial appeared in our issue of October 12th 1945, and we think it is fitting to reproduce it on the occasion of National 4-H Club Week, March 4th-12th.

FOREST PRODUCTION IN HANCOCK COUNTY

By T. V. MARLAR, Area Forest Ranger

It is impossible to grow a tree crop unless you have the trees which will produce sufficient seed for that crop. These seed producing trees must have protection from the many hazards which destroy them.

Fire and over grazing are perhaps the worst enemies of the forest. These losses cannot be replaced except through long years of growth.

Fire is recognized as the major destroyer of forests in Hancock County, and to better understand some of the damage caused by fire the following points should be considered.

SEED

If fire occurs immediately following a seed fall, many of the seed may be burned, and it may be several years before another good seed crop; in many cases the soil is left in a condition which will make a poor seedbed, for a heavy layer of ash may be detrimental to germination of seeds.

SEEDLINGS

(Trees under three feet in height) At this stage the tree is most easily killed. Uncontrolled fire should never be allowed to get into a stand of young seedlings; although it is true that seedlings of longleaf pine are harder than those of other pines, but even they are likely to be damaged by fire.

SAPLINGS

While light fires may do little damage to saplings, quite often in dry, windy weather, fire will get into the crowns of pine saplings and kill them. Even if the flame does not get into the crowns, there may be enough heat at the base of the trees to seriously scorch them so that growth is slowed or scars result.

MATURE TREES

Fire is less likely to destroy timber of this age than any other but it can and quite often does considerable damage. Scars are usually the result of fires. Last but not least, fires are often the forerunner of disease and insect attack.

SOIL FERTILITY

The only means nature has of adding organic matter to the soil in a stand of timber is by the decay of leaves and litter. Fires destroy this material and may deteriorate the soil and water holding capacity thereof.

WILDLIFE

There may also be other things which should be considered in regard to the effect of forest fires on the welfare of man. For example, wild game, which, to a large extent, depends upon the forests for food and shelter, is likely to suffer when the woods burn.

PREVENTING FIRES

The work in fire prevention in Hancock County is carried on by the state forest service, but the cooperation of the woodland owner and the general public is an absolute necessity if the fire problem is to be controlled or solved in Hancock County. Less than one percent of the fires in Hancock County are from natural causes, the rest are man caused and could be prevented.

The woodland owner can help prevent fires in several ways: Fire lanes can be constructed where a high hazard exists, this is particularly true along highways.

Burning brush for new ground clearing should not be done except with proper precautions, a fire line should be constructed on the area to be burned or around the brush piles; the burning should not be done on windy days or when it is real dry; and plenty of help should be on hand to keep the fire under control.

Care by woodland owners, and others with fire in the woods at all times, is most important. Campfires, warning fires and smokers cause a high percentage of all fires, and with

LETTERS

Bay St. Louis, Miss.
March 6, 1950

Editor:

What's ahead for Bay St. Louis? Sweeping industrial shifts have brought into Mississippi over 700 new factories in 10 years. Millions of dollars in new money has been put into circulation.

A new tuna fish cannery at Moss Point and a new garment plant at Ocean Springs will employ over 400 persons. The big garment plant at Gulfport will reopen soon.

With only one notable exception, the whole Mississippi coast is getting its share of the new industrial plants, offering employment, new tax sources and greater prosperity for all.

That lone exception is Bay St. Louis, which so far has succeeded in keeping prosperity away from its doors.

Two forces—powerful when combined—must take the credit for keeping industries out of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County: The lawless gang, and others posing as law-abiding and respectable citizens who feel that this community should be preserved exclusively as a resort and playground for visitors.

Who would benefit from new pay-rolls? Workers, their families, more tax income for public services, schools, better housing, improved streets and roads, more business for stores, etc., and more money in circulation for almost everybody.

Why can't Bay St. Louis have its share of new industrial plants now locating in the South? Only the attitude of its leaders (only some of them, of course) stands in the way.

J. LEWIS HENDERSON.

SPEECH BEFORE THE STATE LEGISLATURE

After the successful fight in the House to defeat the Administration's FEPC bill, the State Legislature of Mississippi did your Representative as Chairman of the House Southern Group, the signal honor of inviting him to address a joint session of that body on Wednesday, March 8. Without concert, I hope, and with no illusions as to its merit as an oration, but with a desire to give as wide distribution as possible to the dangers to our way of life pointed out therein, I am summarizing that speech below through excerpts.

"THE STATE OF THE UNION"

"The fact that the United States today is the richest and most powerful nation in the world, the one to which the distressed, war-torn, and freedom-loving peoples of the civilized world are looking for economic assistance and world leadership, is no accident. It is the result of careful planning and something akin to divine foresight. . . . It is the product of the minds of the founding fathers (particularly of the great Virginia Patriot, Thomas Jefferson, who believed that people was best governed who was least governed."

FOREIGN IDEOLOGIES

"But today that whole system, built upon the freedom of the individual, is seriously threatened by those within our midst, who, in their lust for power, or their obsession with foreign ideologies would forsake the wisdom of the founding fathers and trail off after false gods. These would-be reformers are the politicians, the planners, the 'so-gooders.' They have secured themselves in high places in our Government. They are the advisors to the people elected to higher offices, including the President himself."

ORGANIZED MINORITIES

"These schemers are also good politicians. They have discovered that there is political strength in organized minorities. Rich plums usually at the expense of the taxpayer, are offered to every organized group. This appeal to racial and other similar minorities is well calculated to pay dividends on election day. Having succeeded in capturing the Northern Negro vote from the Republicans, they set out deliberately a decade ago to enfranchise the Southern Negro . . . and thus further fortify their (the schemers) political and political power."

CIVIL RIGHTS

"I am not anti-negro. Neither do I believe that Mississippians and Southerners generally are anti-negro. We like our negroes. Generally, we live with them in a peaceful and neighborly basis. We are proud of the progress they have made. We want to see them continue to advance and to see their economic lot improved; but like the general emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, we do not want to be forced to marry them, eat with them, or sleep with them."

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

"All of this race agitation—the arraignment of the negro against the white man, the Jew against the Gentile, the foreign born against the native American—unfortunately, is the result of those presently in charge of your and my party, heeding the siren song of these scheming political planners. The South must be made the 'whipping boy' of the nation (in order) to garner sufficient Negro votes in doubtful states so that these political planners may continue in power. It is indeed a sorry spectacle that the South, who, prior to the Civil War, largely furnished the leadership of this great country, and which has consistently supported the Democratic Party since that unfortunate strife, should now be punished for its constant loyalty to that party."

NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY

"Being the kind of Democrat that I am, it is impossible for me to escape the conclusion that there is a freedom-loving people of the civilized world are looking for economic assistance and world leadership, is no accident. It is the result of careful planning and something akin to divine foresight. . . . It is the product of the minds of the founding fathers (particularly of the great Virginia Patriot, Thomas Jefferson, who believed that people was best governed who was least governed."

ENGLAND

"Possibly the most recent and one of the best examples of the work of these crusaders for the Socialist System, with the resultant loss of the liberties of the people, can be found in our late comrade and ally in arms, England. . . . There Socialism, like the creeping disease that it is, started more than fifty years ago. It grew gradually. Its proponents there, as here, at first did not admit that they were Socialists. They finally became powerful enough to take over that country. . . . We no longer have to wonder how the scheme works, nor does the Englishman. . . . The malignant disease of Socialism, aided and abetted by two world wars, has converted a great, freedom-loving people into serfs of the State."

THE MISSISSIPPI CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION

"Your entire Delegation in Congress from Mississippi are ardent believers in the Southern way of life security and political power. . . . They have been and are now opposing the efforts of those presently in charge of your and their Party to lead this great, powerful country further down the road to Socialism and ruin. . . . We refuse to either marry, betroth, court, or flirt with any of these foreign ideologists for political expediency. We are States' Rights in the language of the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution, which declares: 'The Powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States, respectively, or to the people.'"

DANGERS DOMESTIC RATHER THAN FOREIGN

"A great American Statesman once said that if the Republic were ever destroyed that destruction would come from within rather than as a result of the efforts of a foreign foe."

"While the possibility of a shooting war cannot and should not be ruled out, I am, frankly, more concerned about the danger to this magnificent young Republic of ours from within than from without. When one realizes the true depth of the infiltration of the Communists and the full scope of the plans of the junior Communists, the Socialists, in this government of ours, he can come to no other conclusion."

CONCLUSION

"The picture I have presented on the state of our union is a somber one. But I assure you that it is not painted from the colors of envy or hatred for any man or group of men. Neither is it painted with the brush of bigotry or intolerance for my fellowman. My purpose here has been, as it has at Washington, to contribute my efforts, however humble, toward the preservation and perpetuation of this splendid Republic."

Soil Conservation

By J. L. BISHOP
Soil Conservation Service

At 71 when many men are rocking on the front porch, Uncle Joe Shaw of the Crane Creek Community is changing his way of farming.

He's going to let his beef and dairy cows harvest most of their own feed. And he will tell you, "I'm going to preserve this land for my grandbabies."

Uncle Joe, who signs his name Joseph Shaw, Sr., is one of the early settlers of his community. He still has the pioneering spirit, a ready smile, and light brown hair that make him look much younger than he is.

All his farming years he grew corn, cotton, cane, peas, soybeans, and hay, and ran beef cows in the woods. In recent years he tried dairying, but "I hardly have enough money to pay my feed bill when I buy all the feed my cows can eat."

And his hill land was slipping away from him—and from his grand-children. Although he terraced his sloping fields, the terraces broke nearly every spring. These fields washed badly.

But now he's making over his 500-acre farm, with the help of complete soil and water conservation plan he and the Soil Conservation Service worked out.

Uncle Joe's first soil conservation job, after the plan was made, was to plant dallis grass and white clover and 15 acres of the hill land that was washing away under row crops. He finished that job last October.

Before planting the pasture, he prepared the land, applied 1,000 pounds of basic slag and 150 pounds of muriate of potash an acre. Then he culled the field and planted 10 pounds of white clover and 10 pounds of imported Dallis grass seed an acre.

"Next summer, I plan to mow the weeds every time I get a chance," said Uncle Joe. "I hope to save from this patch and plant another pasture next fall."

When he completes his conservation plan, he will have 233 acres of improved pasture growing on the hill land that was washing away.

All the row crops on Uncle Joe's farm will be grown, in the future, on the nearly level land that has good drainage. The Soil Conservation Service men call this Class 1 land. Uncle Joe has 16 acres that will be used, with a rotation that includes soil improving plants to grow corn and other row crops.

Uncle Joe's 255 acres of woods will be protected from damage by grazing and fire. One of his next conservation jobs will be to build a fire-break around his woods.

"I'm going to fence all my woods with net wire so the hogs can't root up my small pine trees," he said. Several patches of young pines are too thick. He said he will thin these pines this winter and make fence post of them.

"I understand I can get chemicals to treat pine posts with and they will be just as good as our 'ole fat pine posts,'" the Crane Creek farmer said.

Before Uncle Joe decided to change his way of farming, he did a lot of looking, listening and reading. In the farm magazines and in the newspapers he read about improved pastures. And he saw what some of his neighbors were doing with help from the Hancock Soil Conservation District.

Hospital Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Leander Pavoleni, nee, Irene Moran, announce the birth of a son on Wednesday, March 1, 1950; the baby weighed nine pounds.

Mrs. John Renz, Bay St. Louis, was treated at the hospital for a heart attack but has been discharged.

Mrs. Otis Bounds, Bay St. Louis, is a patient at the hospital.

BLOOD COLLECTED

Since it began in January 1949 the Red Cross national blood program has collected more than 500,000 pints of blood.

Then, one day early last spring, he talked with Frank Shaw, a neighbor who was a commissioner of the soil conservation district.

"Uncle Joe, I would like for you to come to my farm and look at my pasture and cows," the former district commissioner said. "I planted it in the fall of 1947 and my cows have doubled their production since they have been grazing it."

Uncle Joe looked at Frank Shaw's pasture, and said he was amazed. He heard that A. E. (Ford) Smith also had a good pasture. He looked at it too.

The more good pastures he saw the less he liked what he had.

Later Mr. Shaw invited Uncle Joe to go with him to Bay St. Louis to a meeting of the district commissioner. The commissioners had asked farmer receiving help from the district to attend to aid in preparing a report on district progress to all local farmers.

Before the meeting was over, Uncle Joe had made up his mind. When District Chairman Otho Rester asked Uncle Joe if he had anything to say, the Crane Creek farmer said:

"I don't have a farm plan yet but I want one and want to know just how quick I can get it. I have about 200 head of cattle and I have plenty of land. I want a farm plan that will leave my land in better condition for my grandbabies than it was when I got it. I realize from what has been said that these other men have plenty of success with pastures."

Soon the Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the district were going with Uncle Joe over his farm, helping him to decide the best use and treatment for each acre.

Now, at 71 Uncle Joe is starting another pioneering adventure—soil conservation farming.

Legion News

By The Commander

Every man who carries a paid-up 1949 Legion membership card is helping to win the Legion's fight to protect veterans' benefits. Membership pays off in halls of congress. Card carrying members count.

The Legion is now engaged in a grim battle to defeat the forces of alleged economy who propose to abolish the Veterans Administration; destroy most of the benefits won by the Legion for the veterans; cut off veterans' benefits. Membership pays off in halls of congress. Card carrying members count.

It is estimated that more than 125,000 of these rural youth in Mississippi and thirteen other Southern states will take part in the 1950 National 4-H Garden program. In it they will learn how to manage a well-planned garden, carry out a program of vegetable insect and disease control, and market produce in an economical and approved manner.

Through their garden project, they will increase individual and family incomes by reducing the amount of food purchased. They will also contribute to better family health by producing sufficient amounts of essential and nutritious vegetables and fruits for use throughout the year.

Incentives for outstanding achievements in gardening include gold-filled medals of honor for four county winners, and an all-expense trip to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress next November for the state champion, provided by Allis-Chalmers. Eight national winners selected from state champions will each receive a $300 college scholarship.

The 4-H Garden program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service. County Extension agents will furnish complete information.

Membership is the strong voice of three million veterans of both wars crying "Halt!" to a heartless measure inspired by the "economy" experts of Big Business.

Legionnaires can make that voice stronger by signing up another member in the American Legion today.

THIS IS "OPERATION SURVIVAL!"

All 1949 members who have not as yet paid their 1950 dues make a concerted effort to do so between now and March 15th to help the Post reach its goal in the Birthday Membership Drive.

EIGHTH GRADE PRESENTS CHAPEL PROGRAM

By the Junior-Senior English Class

In chapel Monday morning, March 6, the eighth grade presented a program consisting mostly of selections learned in literature. Inez Moran was the announcer.

The first number was the poem, "Abou Ben Adhem," by Margaret Kline, which was followed by Kipling's "If" by Janet Garriga. The eighth grade sang, "My Happiness." Rita Travira gave the next reading, "It Couldn't Be Done." James Ladner recited the poem, "The Twins." The song, "Smile" was sung by the whole eighth grade. Then the selection, "Work," was said by Margie Stiggett, followed by "What is Good," by Betty Jean Travira.

Saturday, March 4, marked the election of trustees for County Schools. In the Kiln school district, Mr. Saul Cuevas (Bayou La Croix) was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of Mrs. Melva Haas, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Friday night, March 3, 1950, Kiln and Saint Stanislaus played a basketball game in the Kiln High gym.

C. leading 11 points, Kiln boys started playing man-to-man, with the result that when the final whistle blew, S. S. C. was in front only 4 points. The final score was 34-40.

The proceeds of the game went to the new convent, which is being prepared for the arrival of the sisters.

Father Toner has received word that three sisters of the order of the Missionary Servants of the Most Blessed Trinity will arrive after Easter to take up their residence in the new convent and to work in the Parish of the Annunciation.

You Hear Strange Things About Catholics

Yes, you can hear some strange things about Catholics.

You hear it said that Catholics believe all non-Catholics are headed for Hell...that they believe non-Catholic marriages are invalid.

Some think Catholics believe the Pope is God...that he can do no wrong...that they owe him civil allegiance and that he should have the political power to rule America.

It is said that Catholics want religious freedom only for themselves...that they oppose public schools and separation of Church and State as evils which should be destroyed.

The claim is made that Catholics pay the priest for forgiveness of their sins...that they must buy their departed relatives and friends out of Purgatory...that they adore statues...are forbidden to read the Bible...use medals, candles and holy water as sure-fire protection against the loss of a job, lightning or being run down by an automobile.

But what is worse, some say, Catholics corrupt the true teachings of Jesus Christ with the addition of pagan superstitions and practices that are nothing less than the inventions of the devil.

If all these things—or any of them—were true, it would be a pity. For at least one out of every six Americans is a Catholic—and it would be a national tragedy if one-sixth of all Americans entertained such erroneous ideas.

The Knights of Columbus is an organization of 700,000 Catholic men of reason and intelligence. In our ranks will be found statesmen, scientists, historians, physicians, movie stars, lawyers, educators and others representing every cross-section of American life. And for each and all of them loyalty to the Catholic Faith is the act of a reasonable man.

We are deeply interested in the welfare of our Church and our Country. And we believe the interests of both will be served best when fair-minded people know the Catholic Church as it is—not as it is sometimes mistaken to be.

If you have heard and believed any of these false claims, and want the truth, we will gladly send you a free booklet which explains many aspects of Catholic belief and practice concerning which people are commonly misinformed. Write and ask for Pamphlet No. 1-N.

PRIVATE LAND OWNERS STRIVE FOR MORE GROWTH ON TREE FARMS

Tree Farm signs dotting the Nation's highways today are standing as markers of good forestry practices on more than 20 million acres of privately-owned land in the United States.

A Tree Farm sign indicates the boundary of a "tract of privately-owned land, protected and managed for the continuous growth of forest products." More than 2,100 landowners are officially registered as "Tree Farmers," under the American Tree Farm System.

The Tree Farm idea originated in the West in 1941. The entire Nation saw the advantage of the system, and as a result, today there are 27 Tree Farm states. The American Tree Farm system is encouraged nationally by American Forest Products Industries, Inc., Washington, D. C., and is sponsored locally by state and private agencies and by forest industry associations.

Farmers all over America now realize that forestry is a form of farming and that trees are a crop that can be harvested again and again. These farmers find that their forest land, properly managed and protected from fire, insects, disease and destructive grazing, can pay them repeated cash dividends.

Landowners, who meet the Tree Farm qualifications, are certified by sponsors of the system in their states. Standards for Tree Farms are established on a uniformly high national level. The goal in every case is protection and continuous production of trees for commercial use. Industries, communities and landowners benefit: the first gets raw material, the second stability, and the last greater profit from their holdings.

States participating in the American Tree Farm System include: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

HOME AGENT NOTES*Enriched Corn Meal Is Important Part Of Diet; Contains Vitamins

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

This is beamed to you! Even if you are already enjoying a good diet, there is always room for improvement. If you are having to do on a diet that is less adequate—then there is an imperative need for help. Let enrichment of whole grain corn meal bring you aid.

LAW REQUIRES ENRICHMENT

As you know, flour and bolted corn meal is required to be enriched by law. But what about that home ground meal that we get from the local miller or grocery store?

When you go to the grist mill with a bag of corn take time to find out if arrangements have been made to add the needed minerals and vitamins while the corn is being ground. In 10 counties in Mississippi work has already been started in carrying out this important safeguard.

It's not an easy thing to change people's habits. Your miller is no exception. Unless you make him feel that it is worthwhile he won't bother to enrich the corn meal—even though the process is inexpensive and easy to carry out.

LACK OF KNOWLEDGE

Maybe you buy your corn from a grocery store or grist mill. If so, you have an excellent opportunity to say, "Is this corn meal enriched?" If the answer is "No"—then come back at him with this question, "Why don't you handle enriched corn meal?" Quite often you will find that there is lack of knowledge of what enrichment is and how important it is to everybody.

WHAT IS ADDED
To let you know what is added to the corn while it is ground, let's start out with niacin. That is the nutrient that will keep us from having pellagra. While there are not as many cases of this now as in previous years, none of us welcome the prospect of even a mild round of it.

Young and old require calcium. It builds strong bones and sound teeth. It prevents brittleness in the bones of older persons even. Milk and turnip greens give us calcium, but quite often we need extra amounts.

Iron is another mineral used in enriching. Of course, here in Mississippi we have plenty of turnip greens, mustard and collards but sometimes we need an extra supply to make good red blood.

Two other items added to the enriched corn meal are thiamine and riboflavin. Probably as just words these don't mean much to us but when we think of how important they are in keeping our nerves healthy and in protecting our eyes and skin we are more concerned.

MARKED IMPROVEMENT

That these minerals and vitamins are important has been demonstrated. Dr. Grace Goldsmith, professor of Tulane Medical School in New Orleans, recently told nutritionists how a marked improvement was noted in New Foundland when a group of families were given enriched flour to use.

We Mississippians are not down on the lowest limb nutritionally, but we certainly are not tops when it comes to physical well-being. Let's make a step forward in seeing to it that all the corn meal used in the state—whether bought or home-ground, is enriched.

Plan "Old Fashion" Garden In '50

By Howard F. Simmons

Have a real "Old fashioned" garden in 1950. This means a good variety of vegetables for the family and some for the neighbors.

But March is here, and there's no time to lose in vegetable gardening.

MARCH VEGETABLES

First, take a look at the large number of vegetables on the March planting calendar. There's lettuce, beets, cabbage plants, radish, turnip, mustard, carrots, kale and onion sets or plants.

Also for March planting are English peas, Swiss chard, winter spinach, New Zealand spinach, tender greens, parsley and endive.

LAST CALL FOR POTATOES

It's last call for Irish Potatoes, which should be planted immediately. Use seed pieces at least one ounce in size or even larger.

Asparagus seed planted now will produce crowns for transplanting next fall. Drop seed one inch apart in the row, cover with one-half inch of soil, and press the soil with back of hoe or rake.

Sweetcorn can be planted in central and South Mississippi throughout March. Plan to make three or four plantings during the next 60 days.

Transplant tomato, pepper and eggplant plants to coldframe or plant bands when two to three inches tall, or when two permanent leaves appear.

STARTER SOLUTION

Starter solution is made by dissolving one pound of 5-10-5 fertilizer in five gallons of water. Pour one teacupful of this solution around each cabbage, tomato, eggplant, or pepper plant when setting in the garden.

Side dress February-planted crops with a nitrogen fertilizer when plants are three to four inches tall. Use two to three pounds of nitrate of soda, or one to two pounds of ammonium nitrate, per 100 feet of row.

Place fertilizer two or three inches from plants and two inches deep.

Another tip is that hotcaps permit setting tomato, pepper and eggplant in the garden two to three weeks before the usual time. Cucumbers and cantaloupes can also be planted earlier when this protection against frost, rain and insects is used.

Finally don't forget the bugs. Watch for lice on cabbage and mustard, potato beetles on Irish potatoes and cutworms on cabbage and tomato plants. Have the dust gun or sprayer ready.

NEW SPRAY CALENDAR

A new "Mississippi Spray Calendar," revised Extension Circular 114, is being distributed, and includes some major changes in spray schedules.

Time is short for applying the dormant sprays on peaches, plums, apples, and pecans. Spring spraying or dusting will increase the production of high quality fruit.

Orchard owners can get copies of this up-to-date spray calendar from the county agent.

KUDZU AND SERICEA

It is time to plant kudzu crowns or plant sericea lespedeza.

Set kudzu six feet apart with 12 feet between rows, and apply fertilizer at the rate of 500 pounds of 5-10-5 or 6-8-8 per acre. Cultivate three times during the year, starting when weeds and grass crowd the crowns out.

Kudzu is the only plant which will give good grazing without mowing and be put on stump land. It will keep weeds and bushes down.

Sericea should be put on land which can be mowed. Sow on good seedbed, using 500 pounds of basic slag and 100 pounds of potash, or 300 pounds of superphosphate and 100 pounds of potash. Sow inoculated, scarified seed and cultipack, or drill and cultipack.

Teen-Age News

By Mrs. C. J. Van Trier, Secretary of the Executive Board

The executive board and officers of the Teen-Age club met at the Youth Center Saturday to discuss plans for a magazine subscription drive. The proceeds of the drive will be used to purchase recreation equipment for the Youth Center.

There will be four teams, each captained by a teen-ager, and all three of the local schools will be represented with students from each on the various teams.

If you are interested in wholesome fun and recreation with supervised play and fun time for our young people, help them all you can to put this drive across and make a success of the undertaking.

Mrs. Benny Nobles, directress of the Youth Center hopes to have ping-pong tables installed soon, and the Teen-agers have decided to use the prize money they won for their Mardi Gras float to buy one table.

By vacation time Mrs. Nobles hopes to have the Center equipped so that the young people will have something to keep them occupied; the club will be open several hours a day and over the weekend.

The teen-agers want your support they invite you to visit them any time.

This week a list of special donors and amounts will be published, and the progress made in the magazine subscription drive will be reported.

Red Cross Names County Chairmen

The annual Red Cross campaign for funds in Hancock County is now underway. Don McCulloch, fund chairman, said today. Although the quota has been raised for Hancock County, it is hoped that the citizens of this area will do all that is possible to meet these obligations.

APPOINTED CHAIRMEN

Last week the county-wide organization for the campaign was completed when the following chairmen were appointed: Mrs. Claudia Carrere, Mrs. Flo Lehtinen, assistant chairman, Waveland; Mrs. Wayne Hazlett, Clermont Harbor; Mrs. Ed P. Ortle, Lakeshore; Mrs. Yarbrough, Pearlport; Mrs. Eunice Casanova, Logtown; Mrs. Cora Miller, Gainesville; Mrs. Otto Rester, Leeport; Mrs. Jack Lott, Kila.

THE QUOTA

The quota for this county is $4-122.00, which is just a part of the National quota of $67,000,000 being asked this year by General George C. Marshall, new Red Cross president.

USED INTERNATIONALLY

"The American Red Cross is the instrument chosen by the United States government to aid in fulfilling obligations of the American people under international treaties. To enable it to do so the federal Congress granted a charter imposing upon the American Red Cross responsibility for conducting specific activities in behalf of the American people. To carry out these responsibilities it is essential that the Red Cross raise the necessary funds," the president said.

"The organization must continue its traditional services to the nation, to the armed forces, and to veterans. It must continue to expand its national blood program, already serving nearly a quarter of the country's population. And it must continue to develop its volunteer programs for greater community service."

HELP ARMED FORCES

Last year, General Marshall pointed out, the Red Cross spent more than $35,000,000 for its services to the armed forces and veterans alone, half of it in a nationally financed program. The Red Cross must continue these services to the veterans, General Marshall continued.

"The Red Cross must also be ready to move quickly and efficiently when disaster strikes in any part of the nation," he general said. Last year the organization assisted in 330 domestic disaster relief operations, the highest number in any one year of Red Cross history. It assisted 228,300 persons with emergency and long-term help at a cost of $7,640,200 during the year."

General Marshall also singled out the organization's health and safety services, its army of trained volunteers, and the Junior Red Cross as important elements that must be continued at peak efficiency.

Hancock County Pays $490,509 of State Budget

Of the $106,621,900 recommended state budget for Mississippi government during the next biennium, Hancock county taxpayers will pay $490,500.

HANCOCK COUNTY PAYS 46%
This estimate was released this week by the Mississippi Economic Council, which states that Hancock County pays 46 per cent of total state taxes. With total appropriations for state expenditures threatening to exceed the recommendation of the state budget commission, the county will no doubt pay slightly more than the above mentioned amount, the MEC said. Total appropriation measures already passed or introduced are already around 8 million dollars more than the recommended budget, and some solons have expressed a fear of deficit spending, unless there are cutbacks.

RECOMMENDED BUDGET
The recommended budget for the 1950-52 period of $106,621,900 compares with a state budget of $99,097,400 for the 1948-50 period. Under the proposed budget, approximately 50 per cent goes for education, 13 per cent for homestead exemption, 11 per cent for social welfare, 11 per cent for hospitals and mental institutions, 5 per cent for legislative, executive and judicial, 1 per cent for agriculture and industry and 7 per cent for all other expenditures.

"The major reason for pointing out these facts is to show the taxpayers the trend of state expenditures," Edmund Taylor, Greenville, President of the MEC, said. "While we should watch expenditures from a national standpoint, it is just as important that we watch the trend of state spending and taxation."

KEEP CITIZENS INFORMED
"One of the purposes of the MEC is to keep citizens informed about facts in government. As a grass-roots organization, we feel that the grass-roots should know more about our home expenditures. If we expect to make any headway in curbing government expenditures, we should begin at home. Certain government expenditures are vital and necessary in the public interest. However, it is time the average citizen started demanding more efficient government operation at home, as well as in Washington."

Accept All Applications For Census Enumerators In Gulfport Until March 10

Only eight specific questions in the 1950 Census of Population will be asked of all individuals when enumerators make their calls at households during April. Arthur F. Arrington, district supervisor of the local office of the United States Bureau of Census, announced today.

THE EIGHT INQUIRIES

The eight inquiries to be made concerning every person will be, name, relationship to head of household, race, sex, age, marital status, state or country of birth and citizenship status.

Two additional inquiries concern all persons 14 years old and over. These relate to employment status and kind of job.

SELECT BY CHANCE

The remainder of the questions will be asked only of a sample of persons selected by chance according to the order in which their names fall on the census schedule.

For every fifth person, there will be four questions as to place of residence one year ago, country of birth of father and mother, whether attending school and highest grade attended. For every fifth person 14 years old and over there are four questions on number of weeks worked in 1949, income in 1949, veteran status (males only), and duration of unemployment (if unemployed).

THREE OTHER INQUIRIES

Three other inquiries will apply only to every thirtieth person 14 years old and over in certain categories. One in thirty persons neither working nor seeking work during the week before the census will be asked to report on the kind of job last held if employed at any time in 1949. One in thirty persons reporting themselves as ever having been married will be asked if they have been married more than once, and the number of years in present marital status. One in thirty married women will be asked how many children they have borne.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Looks Can "Kill"

A month ago, it looked like "Our Town's" team in the County Basketball League wasn't going to win a game. Then, one day Silma Henderson came in and said, "Joe, I've got a story for you—listen..."

"A few of us merchants know we've let our team down—and that's why they're doing badly. They all haven't even the same kind of uniforms... nothing to perk up their morale. So, next Tuesday, we're giving the fellows a big dinner over at the hotel and we're donating 8 brand-new uniforms to them."

The rest of the story is the team has taken four out of its last five games. They have the same players, but they play better—a good deal of it due to the way they feel with new uniforms. From where I sit, when you look better you do better. Beer retailers, in working with the Brewers and their Self-Regulation program, know this. That's why they keep their establishments so bright and clean. They "win," too—new friends and customers!

Sodalities Meet; Discusses Religion

The St. Stanislaus Confraternity of the Sacred Heart was host to the schools of the Gulf Coast area Monday, March 6, in the St. Stanislaus gym.

SCHOOLS REPRESENTED

The schools represented were St. Stanislaus College and St. Joseph Academy of Bay St. Louis; Sacred Heart Academy and Notre Dame of Biloxi; and Our Lady of Victory high school of Pascagoula. Rev. Father Kevin Bambrink accompanied the Biloxi schools here, and Rev. Father Johnson came with Our Lady of Victory.

Rev. Father Bambrink opened the meeting with a prayer, and after the minutes were read, Roy Gulotta, senior of St. Stanislaus and president of the Coast Union, handled the business of the day.

DISCUSSION

The discussion part of the program was turned over to Brother Dorian, S. C., Moderator of the St. Stanislaus Confraternity, who introduced the subject for discussion, "Is Religion a Private Affair?" Mary Lee Gray, O. L. V., Walter Cornejoles, Notre Dame, Vincent Liberto, S. C., and Jo Ann Bontemps, S. J. A. were the students who argued in favor of the affirmative. Those who spoke in favor of the negative were Juanita Farragut, O. L. V., Rocky Fayard, Notre Dame, Barbara Calhoun, Sacred Heart, Scotty Assenheimer, S. C., and Ann Vetter, S. J. A. A general discussion followed in which Clark Mayer of St. Stanislaus and Jeanne Turpin of St. Joseph's took a prominent part. It was decided that private and public prayer are both important.

The curtain on the stage was decorated in red letters of soft gloss forming the words, "Sacred Heart of Jesus, have mercy on us." The stage was banked with evergreen ferns; all was enhanced by soft lighting effects.

Cokes were served after the discussion, and the St. Stanislaus orchestra entertained with a splendid medley.
